HOW TO DO IT.

How To Do IT.

If there is one thing more than all others that will give a man a forlorn and friencies appearance and make him morbid and "cranky" and disagreeable, that thing is dyspepsia. It makes one forgethis friends and become morose and irritable. He is so wrapped up in his own misery that he is inconsiderate of every one cise. Relieved of this terrible and depressing allment, he again becomes a good fellow and a man among men.

Stuart's Dyspeppia Tablets are beyond question the most effective and popular remedy ever offered to the sufferers of this herible disease. The thousands and thousands of cures they have brought about and the enormous increase of their sales fully attest the trith of this statement.

They are, above all, a natural remedy. They possess exactly the same properties that the gostric filese and other digestive fluids of the stomach possess and they estudy do the directive work of the stomach and enable that organ to rest and returned and enable that organ to rest and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They prevent any fermentation of the food which causes sound and well. They are their influence the subject forces that he has a stomach and his resulting cheerfulness presents a great contrast to his former defection.

Allibons of boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold annually and they are but in the dawn of their popularity. Every mail brings letters of thanksgiving from grateful ones who have been cured of this terrible disease. The following is one of hundreds received each week:

Rev. J. R. Hong of Wymore, Neb., writes: "For six years I have been from the two diseases, or rather, that the stomach trouble was the cause of the heart desturbances. I thin post Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for a remedy and invested a doller and a half for three boxes, which lasted me three months, and I can ent any kind of food I want and have a good, visonaus ap Chicago Rabbi Commends Local Jewish Organization at Annual Meeting.

UNION COLLECTS $40,874.

Among Seven Branches Which Look to the Good of Poor Hebrews $39,625 Is Expended During Year.

The second annual meeting of the Jewish Charitable and Educational Union last night in Temple Shaare Emeth served a double purpose in furnishing to a St. Louis audience the opportunity to learn the details of the organization's work, and to hear again the Reverend Doctor Emil Hirsch of Chicago, rabbi of Temple

Moses Fraley, the president of the union, was the chairman of the evening, and read his annual report, which dealt in detail with every branch of the union's work. During the last year there was contributed to the union $40,874, of which sum $39,625 was expended among the various branches as follows:

Cleveland Orphans' Home, $6,000; National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, Denver, Colo., $2,000; Jewish Hospital, $5,-677; Home for Aged and Infirm Israelites, $5,299; Jewish Alliance, $2,613; Hebrew School, $1,292; Jewish Charities, which include many organizations, $15,000. The cost of maintaining the union was

A part of the total sum collected was given by poor children. Early in the year 450 small savings banks were distributed, 450 small savings banks were distributed, most of them among the classes which meet at Ninth and Carr streets. The banks which have been returned yielded more than 4500, and there are a score yet to come in to the superintendents.

Mr. Fraley spoke of the labor bureau which has been established within the last year, and asked members to support it. He also made a special appeal for funds to cancel the indebtedness of the Jewish hospital and dispensary. He announced that the union's part of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday collections amounted to $1,923.

Doctor Hirsch's address was a discussion of charitable means, and a strong indorsement of the local union's efforts. He scouted the idea that the charitable instinct will ever become dormant in the healthy man, but warned against thoughless and ignorant giving.

"Ideal charity," said Dector Hirsch, "is social hygiene. Philanthropy is a science. True giving is a rational, methodical system, made to conform to existing conditions. It cannot be left to good intentions or to unskilled, willing persons, but must be manased by experts and artists.

"Charity is not a means for buying social prominence or reputation, nor an end toward pouring balm on a wounded conscience. It is not, as some seem to think, a ticket of admission to a front seat in the parquet at the vaudeville show of the hereafter. The poor are not on earth to be used as scales on the ladder by which the rich may climb to position.

"Every man is put on earth with some mission to perform, some niche to fill. Charity has not the right, by offering continuous aid, to utifit him for his position. But charity is to point out to that man where his position lies in the economy of God.

"So charity must be organized. The true solution is a confederation of federations. In union is strength. I am glad to see the condition of Jewish charities in St. Louis."
